The year-end celebrations for 2020-21 were a welcome break from the ongoing challenges. Our school community has demonstrated resilience, encouraged the pursuit of individual passions, promoted life balance, encouraged play and learning via our Beyond the Classroom platform. We will continue to build the capacities of confidence and learning. Following the recommendations from local public health officials, we are preparing for a series of plans that we believe will ensure the health and safety of our community.

Plan A will be to welcome all students and staff back to our beautiful campus on the first day of school, August 17. Returning to School: Three Plans

We are developing three plans for a return to campus. Specific decisions and additional plans regarding on-campus learning will be finalized over the next few months and will be announced in a timely manner. We are continually monitoring all facets of this dynamic situation and we recognize that this requires careful planning and additional planning so that everyone feels safe and supported. We are considering ways to enhance the experience of our Early Childhood parents and students. We will continue to communicate plans and decisions as they develop.

Plan A: In-person Learning

We are focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.

We are also focusing on three major areas in our planning: the health and safety of our community, the educational experience of our students, and the financial health of the school. As part of this endeavor, we are continually reimagining classes, festivals, and community gatherings.

We are continually meeting the metrics for us to open on our scheduled date of Monday, August 17. Plan A will require us to follow the guidelines set by the state and local health officials, which would include mandatory face coverings, social distancing, and frequent disinfecting of classrooms, as well as intermittent transitions to distance learning.